

Introduction to Artificial Intelligence

Artificial Intelligence (AI) refers to systems that can perform tasks requiring human intelligence.

Common areas include machine learning, natural language processing, and computer vision.

Large Language Models (LLMs) are trained on massive text datasets to predict next tokens.